Denton 1S

Hi-Fi Choice - Recommended

"In fact, there is an argument that this newest and least conventional of the Heritage models might be the best all-rounder that the company has released so far. While marketing it as a Heritage design might put some would-be buyers off, the reality is that the DENTON 1S is every bit as sonically talented as the rest of the family without looking or feeling 'old' in any way. This is not simply just an excellent addition to Wharfedale's Heritage range, but one of the best sub-£1,000 standmounts currently available."

DX-3 HCP

"What Hi-Fi? Awards 2026 winner"

"It is hard not to admire the DX-3 HCP, as it delivers sound above and beyond what most soundbars are capable of while being half the price of most models that we recommend. Its unassuming, compact footprint may give the impression that it will deliver a small sound to match, but this is far from the case. The DX-3 not only sounds bigger than its predecessor, but it holds its own in the wider home cinema speaker package market."

"The Wharfedale Diamond 12.1i HCP delivers a superbly immersive, detailed and grown-up sound. Its excellent sonic cohesion across the front and surround channels, mixed with an established and talented subwoofer, makes for yet another successful recipe from the brand.

Elysian 1R

LowBeats

" The Elysian 1 is one of the best compact speakers in its class. It combines a wide frequency range with rich bass, understated, slightly warm-sounding naturalness and finely resolved treble. It therefore does not have a monitor-style sound that seeks to bring out even the tiniest detail. Its tuning is rather warm and musical, and designed for long evenings of listening. Listening to large orchestras or singer-songwriters (particularly those from the Stockfisch Label) is simply impressive, because you never get the impression that you're listening to a compact speaker. The Elysian 1 always sounds delightfully 'big'. "

The episode begins with listening impressions of the new Wharfedale Denton 1S. Although its name connects it to one of Wharfedale's longest-running families, the Denton 1S is not simply another retro reissue. Its compact cabinet, rounded contours and matte finishes give it a more contemporary appearance, while the full-face grille and small metal badge retain a touch of the company's traditional British identity.

"If you recall the refined, restrained, balanced character of Wharfedale speakers, you may be surprised by how willingly the Diamond 12.3i tackles the fat bass in "Kiss in Blue" by Yello ("by Yello" | 2010 | Polydor | 00602527585840). They even seem significantly fuller and more audible, more energetic, not only in the bass, although they are the ones behind it – although objectively speaking, the lower tones do not have more energy, they behave more punchy and thus the whole sound comes to life. It can be said that this design can fill a larger space more easily, without losing that calm readability. For its price, the Diamond 12.3i offers solid bass in a completely sufficient volume and concept, in which there is not even a trace of any dryness."

"Best Mid-Range Speaker"

https://www.avforums.com/articles/hi-fi-products-of-2025-26-editors-choice-awards.23115/

Nov, 2025 EVO 5.2 StereoLife

The Wharfedale Evo 5.2 is an example of how much can be achieved in the—let's be honest—budget class when experience, modern technology, and common sense are combined. These speakers impress not only with their craftsmanship but, above all, with their mature, refined sound. They offer a wide sound scale, natural tonality, deep bass, and excellent spatial expression, while maintaining a comfortable, non-aggressive character. Wharfedale has proven that a three-way monitor can perform like a full-fledged floorstander without taking up half the room. The Evo 5.2 are ideal for music lovers who value musicality, smoothness, and rich timbre, but don't want to sacrifice detail and dynamics. These are not speakers for those seeking clinical analysis or extremely clear presentation. This is a sound that allows you to listen for hours without fatigue, with the pleasant feeling of being immersed in the music, not the system. At this price, it's difficult to find a similarly successful combination of technology, craftsmanship, and sound.

Oct, 2025 EVO 5.4 Hi-Fi Choice - Editor's Choice

The EVO 5.4 arrives to remind us both that Wharfedale is perfectly capable of making a modern-looking speaker when it chooses to and that the result is utterly formidable when it does. I dislike absolutes in reviews; it normally prompts something turning up in the next four to six weeks that contradicts me entirely, but you really cannot buy more speaker than this for £1,400. It delivers a deft combination of scale, detail and engagement that is deeply and consistently impressive and it represents Wharfedale laying down a marker that rivals are going to have to dig deep to get anywhere near.

Oct, 2025 EVO 5.1 Audio Video

"The EVO 5.1's sound profile boasts three distinct advantages. First, the bass – clean, balanced, and objectively the best in the test group. Second, the high frequencies, which similarly outperform the competition. And finally, the midrange: lively, exciting, and dynamic."

EVO 5 Series

Oct, 2025 EVO 5.3 HiFiClass

"The Wharfedale EVO 5.3 are speakers that can truly charm - not with fireworks or spectacular dynamics, but with their sonic refinement and ability to create an atmosphere. The manufacturer has succeeded in creating a design that, even when paired with "transistor" amplifiers, adds a touch of warmth and smoothness to the sound, which in itself is a major asset. The sound of these speakers captivates with its coherence, natural fluidity, and richness of tone, ensuring that each instrument retains its individual sonic character while simultaneously integrating perfectly into the overall presentation. The EVO 5.3 can be listened to for hours on end thanks to their gentle disposition. They lack neither precision nor clarity of detail. It is precisely this balance between subtlety and accuracy that makes these systems stand out from the competition and allows them to rightly be considered one of the most interesting speakers in their price range.v"

avforums BEST IN CLASS AWARD Wharfedale EVO 5.4

"Even well finished, keenly priced rivals from Focal and Acoustic Energy wilt against the sheer technical excellence that the EVO 5.4 has baked in to most parts of its specification. In any way you choose to measure its worth, the Wharfedale is a tremendous amount of speaker for the money, combining spec, build, looks and performance in a way that feels like a line in the sand for other affordable brands to match. This is a frankly ridiculous amount of speaker for the money and it would be churlish to describe it as anything other than the current Best in Class."

REKOMENDACJA AUDIO Video ★★★★★

"What the new Wharfedale speakers have presented restores faith in the segment of contemporary mid-range and upper mid-range speakers. Not only are they solidly built sets constructed from high-quality components, but above all, they are speakers with a refined, open, and virtually flawless sound. This sound can easily be attributed to designs that are one and a half or even twice as expensive. I am almost certain that such a price tag for the EVO 5.4 would be a reality if these speakers bore the logo of one of the premium brands. Excellent bass tuning, great stereo imaging, natural color reproduction – these are really strong advantages. The sound quality to price ratio deserves an A+. Great job, Wharfedale!"

Keeping it in the family, as a contrast, compared to the Q Acoustics 5020s, I prefer the EVO 5.1s because of their greater control and tonal realism while compared to the Q Acoustic Concept 30s I prefer the EVO 5.1's treble fragility and midrange freedom across the soundstage.

"Wharfedale have successfully updated their popular EVO 4 speakers with some significant changes under the skin. The EVO 5.3 is a very well put together compact three-way floor standing speakers for £ 1,099. The Luna gray finish perfectly flatters the predominantly four black drivers on the front panel in a tasteful modern design. "Peter Comeau has achieved a "standing" — no one tells him what to do anymore. Fortunately, Wharfedale wisely never even tried to do so.
The lead developer was allowed to dream, tinker, discard, and rebuild — the Aston is audibly a matter of the heart. And simply a masterpiece.
"A homage to the history of British speaker manufacturing" — that sounds easy and quick to say. But that's exactly what it is — yet oriented forward. We don't buy an oldie, but a highly modern sound image, ultra-dynamic. The price isn't really high; Wharfedale could have tightened the screws even more — considering fully-fledged manufacturing "Made in UK."
In sum: companions for many years of audiophile coexistence."

This may be a British speaker, and it may be in the "Heritage" series , but it's certainly no old master, no relic from bygone days with that typically English tuning. Visually, it might be riding the wave of BBC-style monitors, but its sound is tuned for dynamics and honesty. It has that famous "bang"; it can aim directly at the sweet spot and deliver astonishing energy to the ears.

"The original version of the Linton speakers has its ardent supporters, as they offer good sound and are attractively made, especially considering their price. However, the Super Linton, as the name suggests, is a refined version of the base model, distinguishing itself with higher quality sound that will certainly appeal to the tastes of more demanding listeners. All modifications have been successfully implemented with a clear effect resulting in better sonic qualities. Without a doubt, this is a very successful design at a price of up to 10,000 zloty."

"So just to summarize, the Wharfedale SUPER LINTON is a tone monster. It has an upstream fit and finish along with reasonably priced (often included) stands that also hold LPs in them. It is a unique vintage proposition that stands out from the crowd in more ways than one. It is very easy to listen to and does not deliver a large amount of listening fatigue over long listening sessions. An old dog taught new tricks? Perhaps, but it's hard not to conclude that all the work the IAG team has done in reviving and then refining this classic design has paid off in a sound that's bang up to date, but with all the ease of listening of the original. Add in the visual appeal, especially on those dedicated stands, and you have a speaker that makes a real statement about the way you enjoy your music.

You can be Super too

Viewed as a Linton where every meaningful increment of performance is a few percentage points better, the Super Linton delivers on the brief with bells on. It's an excellent addition to the ranks of two grand speakers because it has attributes that more conventional designs struggle to get near while avoiding most of the downsides that designs of this nature can bring with them. It's a formula that's very hard to argue with and the Super Linton comes Highly Recommended.

Wharfedale SUPER LINTON vs. Wharfedale LINTON (& KEF, Zu)

Another Super Linton highlight for me is how they precisely show us where instruments sit in the phantom center that is drawn between the loudspeakers, right the stereo effect... I hear the Super Linton as more dynamic, more detailed, and more precise with imaging than the Linton... They are more naturally dynamic and more naturally extended at both ends of the frequency range, and they sound fuller and more expressive than the Linton at lower volumes. So, is the Super Linton the best sounding Linton? I would say so, yes.

Best Speaker Over $2000

The Cheap Audio Man 2024 award for the best speaker over $2,000 goes to the Wharfedale Super Linton! What an amazing speaker, coming in at $2,500.
The Super Linton has a lot more air, more information, and a lot more sparkle on the top end. It's just amazing. $2,500 is a lot, but when you compare it to something like the Klipsch Heritage series, the KLH Model Five, or the JBL stuff that's out there, like the L100, this is a deal.

Nov, 2024 Pursuit Perfect System

I think Wharfedale just really nailed it with the Linton. The 85th Anniversary Linton is an imperfectly perfect speaker that's just balanced great. To go better than that, they made a faster, clearer, more dynamic speaker that is lively sounding, likely answering all the critics who wanted a supercharged version of the Linton. It's definitely worthy of the mantle of "super" in terms of speed, liveliness, and bass.

As soon as we hit play on the first track, it was clear that the Super Lintons were cut from the same cloth as the standard Lintons, delivering a full-bodied sound that was just turned up a few notches. ... what you're getting with the super Linton is impeccable design. I mean, like next-level design real wood veneer more bass than you would be getting from a (Klipsch) Heresy or KLH Model 5. And if you get the right amplifier on it, even at lower volumes, you get an incredibly dynamic speaker, natural tonality in the mid-range and the top end; no sibilance. But the one magic trick that this speaker does is give you a unique sound stage.

The Super Linton Heritage is a super speaker, period. No: exclamation mark! And not just a super speaker at this price. I find its design extremely attractive, but what I appreciate most is that it is musically at the forefront... A highly musical and at the same time level-headed developer has achieved a masterpiece here.

Anyone who listens to music with this Wharfedale is not committing a sentimental act, nor is he clinging to a fleeting retro nostalgia. Rather, the Super Linton Heritage manages the authentic heritage of high fidelity at the cutting edge of today. A very, very big recommendation!

What we have here then is, at face value, another charming piece of retro revivalism that harks back to the glory days of home audio while being thoroughly modern at the same time. Stereophile - Recommended Components

JA was impressed by the Wharfedale's stereo imaging. "I was intrigued by how such large speakers could completely disappear, leaving a wide, deep soundstage," he wrote, "but disappear they did." He was also impressed by the weight and articulation of the Dovedale's low frequencies. While the Dovedale's mid-treble could sound a little too forward with some recordings, he felt that this was outweighed by the "powerful, extended low frequencies, natural sounding midrange, and generally clean high frequencies."

AUDIOGRADE HIFI & MUSIC REVIEWS

Wharfedale has hit the mark with the Heritage line and as the flagship model, the Dovedale pushes this sub-brand by some way in both price and performance. But what the Dovedale also shows is how far Wharfedale is able to properly push the envelope when the shackles are fully off.
Every aspect has been considered and developed for performance, while not diluting their vintage charm. They're heritage in name and style, but their performance is anything but. At £5,500 they're not cheap as Wharfedale's go, but compared to wide baffled models from many rivals, nor are they disproportionally expensive.
What's more, their ability to really drive a room (big and small) go beyond many rivals costing this and more, married to a build and charm that's hard not to fall in love with, making them a sure fire hit.

I wasn't sure what to expect from the Wharfedale Dovedale. With its wide baffle and its resemblance to the old-fashioned "big-box" speakers from the 1960s, I was anticipating an old-fashioned sound. That's not what I got-at all. While the Dovedale's mid-treble could sound a little too forward with some recordings, this for me was outweighed by the speaker's powerful, extended low frequencies, natural-sounding midrange, and generally clean high frequencies. Recommended.

May, 2024 hifi.nl

The Aura 4 is a solidly built and modern speaker that visually doesn't seem to want to grab attention. The sound is easygoing, neutral, and transparent with a hint of warmth. It's easy to control, and the Aura 4 isn't picky when it comes to the source material. The relaxed playback is forgiving if the recording is technically lacking. The high tones are good, but what stands out are the midtones and low tones. The Aura 4 invites you to forget about the tech and time, and just sit for a while as the playlist keeps growing.

DIAMOND 12 Series

Mar, 2024 What Hi-Fi?

We've built a brilliant vinyl and streaming hi-fi system powered by Mission and Wharfedale

They resolve a large amount of information, but also present it in an organised and controlled way. We appreciate the articulate and expressive midrange and the seamless integration between the drive units, and like how Wharfedale has avoided excess; there's enough bass weight to satisfy but not so much that it spoils the balance of the presentation. The lows are agile, satisfyingly rich and textured with it.

DIAMOND 12 Series

Jul, 2022 Hi-Fi Choice - Group Test Winner

There can be no denying Wharfedale's extraordinary Diamond 12.3 the prize on this occasion. It truly is a floorstander to gladden the heart... Frankly, if you can buy this much speaker talent for just £500, there's no excuse not to have a great hi-fi system in your life... How has Wharfedale packed in so much excellence at such an affordable price?

May, 2022 What Hi-Fi? (UK) - 5 Stars

The 12.3s add weight and gravitas to the stage sound that nicely balances out the ambience of the rears, while the 12.1s do an excellent job presenting a textured tapestry of crowd noise that surges and swells, enhancing the atmospheric excitement… [D12.3 HCP] has more precise and tactile performance and are particularly well suited for a system used as much for music as movies.' Adding further praise; 'the system retains a solid composure, with clear separation between instruments and just a hint of smoothing of any ragged fringes keeping everything sounding coherent while still retaining the ironic buoyancy that makes the track so enduring... there are lots to admire about the classy and composed Diamond 12.3 HCP. With sophisticated, musical floorstanders, a capable, clear centre channel, a taut sub and excellent integration, this is a detailed and dynamically responsive system that delivers beyond its price point.

In a year where some superb affordable speakers broke cover, it was the 12.2 that impressed the most… The Diamond 12.2 is absurdly talented. This is the most fun and focussed Diamond yet; a speaker that needs little help to engage you in what it's doing. It achieves this without compromising on the fundamental user friendliness of the Diamond models of old. When you also consider that is it a well made, handsome and practical design that is likely to shine in a wide selection of settings, the only logical conclusion is that the Diamond 12.2 is the best affordable speaker of 2021.

We feel that the Diamond 12 Series gives you a great value when it comes to speakers. There may not be a better way to go when looking for great bookshelf speakers under $500… [D12.0] has an amazing quality of sound quality for the size. Bass was a lot deeper than I thought… I was super impressed with this one! …rated 5-star for the overall values, across the aspects; build quality, aesthetics, ease of se and sound quality… You'd really feel the bass [on D12.2]. You can hear it! Deeper, richer, fuller… I was very impressed by D12.2. I really like D12.2. I can't imagine getting a better speakers for under $500! …the versatility, has good bass, it has clear high… The Wharfedale D12, an overall, I think it has a great value. The Wharfedale [D12.1] gives the sound a greater point… infuses the music with charisma… And what hits me first is the total balance all over of the places… a speaker design that infuses the sound stage with a sweet of relatively rich bass frequencies that carefully slip it off to the mids and treble without imposing or dominating or swamping them, so the details remains, the delicacy in the treble is there… now you have a rich presentation… as a sense of maturity to the overall of the sound. You feel the sonic layers, something going on the neath! …in term of budget speakers, you've never had it this good!

Fedeltà del Suono (IT) - TOP QUALITY

...I have the honour of reviewing a product from a brand that represents the history of HiFi. There are very few brands that started before the Second World War and Wharfedale is one of these, which, incredibly, still enjoys the excellence and is continuing to amaze with its intuitions and technological innovations.

Build quality? It's off the charts! ...much of what sets Elysian apart from the competition is 100% due to its build quality.
When it comes to intruments and vocals that exist within the midrange, the Wharfedale is a tour de force... the midrange was effortlessly clean, meaning no audible colouration on behalf of the cabinet. Vocals had more dimension and definition when compared to other speakers... arguably the biggest to ways the Elysian 4 separates itself from lesser competition and even some high-end ones - sound stage and dynamics! This speaker is so well sorted and controlled, top to bottom, the definition and delineation within the soundstage is almost second to none. When people speak about pin point accuracy within the soundstage, they might as well be describing the Elysian. In terms of focus, i have heard equal but maybe not better... As it relates to dispersions and space, the Wharfedale is utterly fantastic!
To say the Elysians are capable of placing you square in the middle of a recorded even would be an understatement. And as for dynamics as you might expect, they're excellent.
When it comes to AMT drivers, Wharfedale may be the only brand that I trust with their use. This may be one of if not the best of trio I've heard. It definitely hangs with 802D and Revel Studio2...the Wharfedale is a bonafide high-end steal!... Sound-wise, I wouldn't think twice about choosing the Wharfedales over the REVEL and B&W.
If your product is good, then let is prove it self; which is why I appreciate a company like Wharfedale even more... they sound amazing. They definitely rank among the best I've personally ever heard... Watching movies with them was the biggest eye opener for me.... the centre speaker, is for sure, the best centre channel I have ever heard.
If you're looking for an end-game speaker - one that you can take comfort in knowing, you're hearing arguable perfection each and every time you hit play, you owe it to yourself to hear the ELYSIAN 4!

One of the signatures of this speaker is top-end high quality finish, like super expensive Sonus Faber, the fit and finish in quality components to be used. The stand itself is very impressive! ...this is the one of the high end speakers that you can get in this price point. Finishing quality is comparable to more than 10K dollars speakers.

WHAT HI-FI? SOUND AND VISION ★★★★★

A stylish surround system that's easy on ears… Despite its premium credentials, this is a great value system for impressive and engaging home cinema sound… a powerful but detailed system that never sounds like it's having to work too hard… Voices are projected with transparency and are full of character, and there's an ease and spaciousness to the speakers' performance that makes this a set-up that's immensely enjoyable to listen to for long periods of time… If you're thinking about upgrading your home cinema, this is a system well worth considering…packed as it is with sophisticated speaker technology, we think the Evo 4.4 5.1 system represents superb value for money.

WHAT HI-FI?

Wharfedale's Evo 4.4 are packed with so much technology that we had to double-check their price. The Air Motion Transformer tweeter is normally reserved for much more expensive speakers, but they're found in this relatively affordable model. That's not the only killer piece of audio tech they feature: the dome midrange and twin Kevlar bass drivers also set these floorstanders apart from the crowd …they also deliver transparency and subtlety, helping to ensure a natural, easy-going presentation. Which you might not have expected… there's a real feeling that these speakers are digging deep into the recording and presenting that information in an honest way. They track the complete envelope of a note well, clearly defining leading and trailing edges without sounding overly etched …Evo 4.4's easier-going presentation is more natural and convincing. It's the kind of sound that appeals over the long term.

With the [EVO4.1s], you can kind of put them wherever you want and they are going to sound incredible. This speaker is very dynamic. It has more bass that you think it'd. It has treble that's accurate but not grading, not harsh… there is no listening fatigue with this speakers… it's very well done and I'm very surprised!… the implementation of this AMT treble is probably one of the best of I've ever heard for a neutral sound speaker! …it's just good! Wharfedale EVO4.2s have a deeper sound stage… Overall attacks and dynamic, I like the EVO4.2s… EVO4.2s produce deeper bass with very good definition and upper bass region known is clean… EVO4.2 is easier for music listener because it doesn't need to be particualr with music... Not only the look, the brand, and the sound signature... Upper mid range I prefer EVO4.2s because because it's more neautral nda neutral. This AMT produces really, really good high frequencies with clarify, details and spacious. The notes float around you and really, really convinsing you the musical sound you can enjoy... Aug, 2020	Tharbamar (USA)	In my opinion this is the best pair of speakers you can get for under 1000 USD... nothing can touch the EVO4.2 in this price point. This is a highly recommended, high quality speaker, well designed.. well crafted! https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=lYLMotzttYQ
Aug, 2020	Zero Fidelity (USA)	I have to say, it looks absolutely stunning... in my nearly 20 years of being an enthusiast, I can't recall any other manufacturer offering anything like this for the same amount of money... say what you will about made in China, IAG knocked it out the park with this one! It set's a whole new standard in that category, it will make 2000 USD speakers blush by comparison. When you accommodate these speakers accordingly, they deliver sound beyond what you would expect at this price-point. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=EJRXjtfE5FA&feature=youtu.be
Aug, 2020	Pursuit Perfect System (UK)	[EVO4.2] has set a very high bar for all the other eight speakers in this group test to follow! It's because they have delivered pretty much everything to a very good standard; good clarity, good resolution, good space, good communicative-ness... very bass performance for a bookshelf speaker. VÝHODNÝ NÁKUP STEREO & VIDEO

Wharfedale EVO4.2 is characterized by a continuous and balanced transparent sound over the entire transmitted band. There are more accurate and live basses than the "paper" parameters might seem, deeper basses are at least well indicated. The color-forming middle band is legible to the last detail, and the light open heights in the class can withstand only superlatives. The wide music scene is not lacking in depth, and when we add excellent dynamics, we can hardly expect more from speakers up to CZK 20,000… In the class up to the reference sound; perfectly rigid baffle; practical opening of the slit bass reflex.

Hi-Fi Choice - Yearbook 2019

A piece of truly modern budget esoterica that just happens to look retro… the new Wharfedale Linton reimagines the past, rather than recreating it. It delivers so much of what was great about old-school wide-baffle loudspeakers – the ease, effortless musicality and room filling physicality – yet consigns the age-old problems of vagueness, dynamic compression and poor transient response to the dustbin of history. It's a special speaker in its way, but what I most like about it is that it offers all this for such an attractive price.

HVT Magazine (Holland)

The quality of the first generation of Linton from 1965 is still among connoisseurs always highly regarded and with this new Linton that is not different in my view. The new Linton has a retro look but performs at the level that you want from a modern loudspeaker may be expected. The performance is even particularly high because the spatial image that the Linton drop is great and higher than many competitors with this price range. If you like acoustic music or music with lots of spatial information and are you looking go to a new speaker especially the Lintons to attempt. This could well be the bull's-eye!

Even though we had expected a lot from this loudspeaker, it surprised us positively in all categories. Its perfect workmanship, the sophisticated diaphragms - even on the outside we didn't want to believe the low price. Then the sound impression: harmonious, closed, wide panorama, noble dynamics. Wharfedale Linton Heritage is a pair of retro speakers very successful and almost no complaining points complained... to make a conclusion quality performance by Linton Heritage, that is a pair of speakers give the feeling of listening to relaxing music. However, the vintage color is quite clear and has 'talent' increase the sensitivity of the listener's music, especially. Suitable for jazz, vocal, blue.

Feb, 2019 lite Das Lifestyle & Technik Magazin

The quality of workmanship is, as typical for Wharfedale, at the highest level. The interior and the entire construction reveal a very high level, which is consequently expressed in an exceptionally pleasant sound.

Dec, 2018 AUDIO.de Magazine

This does not correspond at all to the cliché of an English loudspeaker. Neither is there a focus on a presence area, nor are dream prices called for. Wharfedale simply wants the REVA-4 to play in the upper entry-level class. Which succeeds very well. Here you don't spend your money on the small interim solution, but can enjoy many years of honest sound. The basic tuning tends to be humane and warm.

Crystal-4 Series

Apr, 2019

Audio Video SA (South Africa)

For this kind of money, the Wharfedale Crystal 4.3 surround speaker system delivers a lot of movie and music magic... the bass is both generous and well controlled, and the subwoofer does a decent job of ensuring that those all-important sub-bass notes are felt as much as heard. Those looking for a cost-effective, well-engineered and versatile surround sound speaker system will find the Crystal 4.3 combo delivers on most fronts. They're nicely put together, relatively unobtrusive, and always deliver the music and movie soundtrack goods.

Exson M

Oct, 2019

Mighty Gadget (UK)

It is safe to say the Bluetooth speaker market is saturated, but the Wharfedale Exson M does enough to stand out from the crowd and could be the perfect speaker for next year's music festivals... I was pleasantly surprised, this surpassed my expectations by a considerable margin, and in my opinion, outperforms the more expensive Soundcore counterparts. It is not a huge difference quality-wise, but the fact that this is 30% cheaper than the Soundcore Motion+ is considerable. Plus, if you like camping, you get the flashlight too.

Mighty Gadget (UK)

A premium & versatile portable speaker in a crowded marketplace... as you would expect from Wharfedale, this is a superb speaker, providing excellent audio quality in a small package.

Good Housekeeping Magazine

A pair to consider if you're looking for an inexpensive and stylish alternative to Apple's Airpods... they work well, look great, and the charging case is easy to slip into your pocket.
